

UTM
UNIVERSITI TEKNOLOGI MALAYSIA

ExCEL Activity Report

KEM PEMBENTUKAN JKM SESI 2020/2021

NAME: NG PEI WEN

MATRIC NUMBER: A19EC0117

PROGRAM: SECR COMPUTER SCIENCE (NETWORK AND SECURITY)

ACADEMIC ADVISOR: MS. LIZAWATI BINTI MI YUSUF

Justification in joining the activities

JKM KTDI had organizes an annually program Kem Pembentukan JKM Sesi 2020/2021 on 13 October 2020 until 22 October 2020. This is a program that is really important for the current committee of JKM KTDI to interview, train and seek for the new committee members for JKM KTDI. Since it falls under MCO period, therefore this is the first time having this program online. This event is a 10 days event where there are multiple tasks given for the participants to be completed in the particular period.

Graduate Attributes:

1. Communication Skills: The most important attribute focused in this program is definitely communication skill. The participants required a good communication skill and self-confident to produce a creative video and during the proposal presentation. Other than this, the participants have to communicate with the other members in the same group to produce a better work. Seeking advises from the senior would also need participant has good communication skills.
2. Thinking Skills: The other attribute focus in this program is thinking skills. This is because the main activity in this event is to brainstorm in group to produce 2 meaningful programmes that our group wanted to propose. Therefore, it requires the participants to think a lot more to produce a god programme that is relevant and suitable for the current situation. Next, the participants have also learned to think for writing a formal letter where the title should not be repeated in the group.
3. Leadership and Teamworking Skills: Leadership and Teamworking Skills is one of the important attributes focuses in this program too. At the beginning of this event, all of the participants are divided into groups to perform all the task throughout the event. Hence, leadership skill and teamworking skill plays an important role for us to complete the tasks perfectly. The leader of the group had to be leading the group members by assigning tasks to the members while all of the members will give their opinions and comment on the others jobs.

4. Adaptability: Adaptability is also one of the graduate attributes focusses. This is because the event is carried out during the pandemic MCO where all of the participants and the committee have no experience in conducting the programme online. Secondly, the participants are formed from different races and maybe nationality. Therefore, all participants have to adapt themselves into the current situation and learn to work with people from other races and places.

Content of the activity:

All of the participants undergo an interview with the current committee of JKM KTDI and the advisors before attending this programme. The Pembentukan JKM Sesi 2020/2021 is a 10 days programme where the participants are divides into group. The first activity is creating a group name, slogan and produce a creative video for submission. The second activity is writing a formal letter as a JKM where the title of letter for each member should be different. The third activity which will relate to the last activity is brainstorming for preparation of proposal. Each group has to prepare two proposals for two different activities. The last activity is presentation of the proposals prepared in activity 3.