

UTM
UNIVERSITI TEKNOLOGI MALAYSIA

Excel Activity Report

Sukan Sekolah Komputeraan 2020(SUSKOM2020) Report

Name: Mohamed Azim bin Mohamed Nazlen

Matriks number: A19EC0089

Course: Bachelor of Computer Science (Data Engineering)

Academic Advisor : Dr. Zuraini Binti Ali Shah

Program information

Organizer: PERSAKA

Acceptance date: 1-7 March 2020

Venue: School of Computing

Graduate Success Attribute

- Communication Skills
- Enterprising Skills

Position: Participant

Reason for Joining

The reason I entered this event is to meet people. My plan was to meet people who are active in events while running the course. I just learned the importance of networking to build a career because no one person can do things alone. I also learned that to ensure that my network of contacts is effective and diverse, they needed to be of a different mindset from me. For example more focused on a different industry, different ambitions, different career choices. This led me to the choice of going to a sporting event. Since I am not a very sporty person, I would most likely spend attract and spend my time with people of the same disinterest of to the concept but by going out of my comfort zone for even just a while, I could get a contact that would help me get my foot in an industry I would never have access to before.

Graduate Success Attribute

The Graduate Success attribute I learned from this activity is Communication skills and enterprising skills.

My communications skills Improve through constant conversing with the other participants. When exercising and nothing going on, it turns into a great time to have a conversation with other people. I learned a lot of things and how to make them keep talking. If given an excuse they are willing to talk about themselves, and because of that I learned alot about the people Iman conversing with. I also learned to listen better. Part of being a great communicator is to listen to other people. I know their ambitions, their goals and a lot about their relationships to other people this way.I strengthen their bond with me and I know I can trust them with things as well as they can trust me.

In enterprising skills I learn to better network among different types of people. Knowing them by a first name basis is not necessary but getting to know my face and whether or not I'm comfortable with them is a big reason for networking. It opens so many doors and different opportunities in my career and expands my own network of contact.

Activities

The first day is the opening ceremony of the event. A volunteer and committee members arrange a senamrobik event where everyone participates. Drinks and food are given after the event which is refreshing after an hour of constant movement.

The following days are the other activities which include sports and a run.I participated in the run portion of the event and that is where I met most of the people I know today. We ran across the entire campus guarded by checkpoints and tape to keep us on track. At the end of the event , a closing ceremony is held where all the sporting competition prizes were given away to the winners and a final speech by the organizers are held.

