Among all type of communication mentioned by the speaker, what is your strongest and weakest skills of communication? And why? *

My strongest communication skill is visual communication. Without any doubt it's helps the people understand the information clearly and increases the comprehension of the subject matter.In my opinion, I even could communicate with deaf people by using visual communication. Example of the mediums that I will use are drawings, animation and signs.

My weakest skills is verbal communication. This is because I don't have enough confident when I were talking. I tend to not asking enough or right questions which it keeps me assuming.

Among all the attributes mentioned in the lecture, which one do you think that you need to improve the most? Why do you think so? *

Verbal communication. As mentioned above I tend to not asking enough or right questions which it keeps me assuming.

Do you have any effort plans to improve your verbal communication skills? If you do, what are your effort plans? *

Yes I do. First of all I'm planning to use simple and straightforward language.Then I'm going to take time to respond by doing some draft in my head. So that it will prevent miscommunication and misunderstandings . Lastly I will take some classes,read books and learn from successful communicators in YouTube to improve my verbal communication skill.
