1.0 Introduction

In general meaning, enterprising means good at thinking of and doing new difficult things, especially things that will make money. While, entrepreneur means we put together all the resources needed such as the money, the people, the strategy, and the risk-bearing ability to transform the invention into a viable business. Besides, why we need to be an entrepreneur or having the basic knowledge about entrepreneur things because of some sake such as :

1. Control over time
2. Fulfillment
3. Creation
4. Control over Compensation Salary, Wage, Dividend and Commission
5. Control over Working Condition

If we do a comparing between entrepreneur and businessman, usually the main focus of a businessman is making money while for a entrepreneur they see opportunity and make money while solving a problem. To be a successful entrepreneurs, there are some characteristics we can see. Out of all characteristics, creative, innovative, confident, optimistic risk taker and tolerate failure are a must in someone life not only to be an entrepreneur but also human.

Therefore, some activities were created to show those characteristics which are named as can you sell it, go shop and Investment cup. From this activity we want a person being able to spot opportunities, pursuing them and willing to take its risks that are then applied to provide value.

6.0 Reflection

For all the activities, we success to show up the characteristics and make sure each group implement it when those activity are organize. During the first activity, each members need to think and use limited items provided to create new things. If we see it in industry nowadays, people must be creative and innovative to compete which each others. As a result, they can achieve success for themself and also country. For the second activity, we can conclude even though some product are already exist, someone can make a new innovation about it. In addition, a person need to be confident because to be success we need confident to face and overcome ours fears. This characteristics are very important in our life even though we do not want to be entrepreneur because they are natural things that should have in each person to be a better and successful in whatever we are doing in future.
