
How to Achieve Prosperity in THIS Challenging Time

RM1.50

Tuesday, December 29, 2020

STRUGGLES IN THIS PANDEMIC

How to make yourself ready in this period-

Md Aminuzzaman Niloy

The speed with which the coronavirus pandemic is evolving has necessitated another round of huge cuts to our GDP forecasts. We now expect world economic activity to decline by 1.9% in 2020 with US, eurozone and UK GDP down by 3.3%, 4.2% and 3.9%, respectively. China's recovery from the disruption in 1Q20 will be sharply curtailed by the global recession

How to stay motivated? Some Advice for the students

Md Aminuzzaman Niloy

VERONA – Students need to focus more on their skills and abilities rather than only focusing on the CGPA or institutional marks. Because they can not shine in outside world if they have no skills or abilities. They will not get any proper job. Good marks are very much important, it is also true. But only good marks are not enough to prosper. One student should have Since childhood, education is a huge part of our identity. Now, whether we have post-graduation plans or are still hunting for our next endeavor, it can be hard to find where you're meant to be and how to get there. we have to prove yourself all over again in a new setting to new people—you must, in a sense, reinvent yourself. Acknowledge the reality of this challenge. Keep reasonable expectations about what you can achieve.

and its annual growth will be below 2%. "The forecast fall in global GDP for the year as a whole is on a par with the global financial crisis but the immediate hit to activity and jobs in the first half of this year will be worse", said Brian Coulton, Fitch's chief economist. The spread of the pandemic and the actions necessary to control it mean that we now have to incorporate full-scale lockdowns across Europe and the US (and many other countries) in our baseline forecasts. This was not the assumption used in our March 2020 GEO forecast. There are many moving parts, but we now judge that lockdowns could reduce GDP across the EU and US by 7% to 8%, or 28% to 30% annualized, in 2Q20. This is an unprecedented peacetime one-quarter fall in GDP and is similar to what we now estimate occurred in China in 1Q20. People need to make themselves ready for every situation in this pandemic period. People also n Have their goals, careers to focus on. Many people are held back by a lack of belief in themselves. It might be that you don't know what skills you have, or that past experiences have given you a false impression of the things you can achieve. There are many free online platforms like – edex, code camp etc. to learn new software and technical skills. It is also very important to adapt the communication skills and teamwork skills to adjust in the future professional life as one is getting into it after graduating. Nowadays we can see many online competitions of skill developing. Taking part in these competitions will sharpen your abilities.	gentle and good communication skill and also other qualities like this. In the time around graduating from undergrad or graduate work, we feel the thrill of freedom and pride for all of the hard work we've accomplished over the past several years. Until this point, we've prepared as much as we can for that "next step," whether it's moving to a new city, a job that awaits us, or a new opportunity we've yet to discover. As the highs of graduation fade though, uncertainty and anxiety can set in. Facing the "real world" can be exciting, but it can also feel scary. As we embark on this transitional phase, the changes can feel empowering and overwhelming at once. We may be saying goodbye to familiar faces, a unique place, and a routine that we will likely never experience in the same way again, as well as a track that has so far been pretty straightforward.
--	---	--

Working Carrier or Student Carrier:

Md Aminuzzaman Niloy

Students often face so many difficulties when they go to find a job. Many of them gets frustrated because of not finding any proper job after graduation. This happens in almost every country, with every young generation. The demotivates them very much. They think they have lack of skill and abilities to shine properly. Finding the right opportunities and moving forward to work life and adjusting with the new environment, finding suitable and helpful supervisors are all the main concern for graduates as they enter their professional lives. As in the Alumni sharing session all the three graduates and new bee shared their experiences about their work life. Experts often say in the alumni session that, a student need to show his creativity with a higher confidence. He should have a mentality like nothing can beat him.

They also suggest that students need work on their coding skills, gain more knowledge about how technology works if they are engineering students. They need to overcome from their mistakes and have a proper communication skill. This will help them to get success.