Introduction

Graduate attributes are the high-level qualities, set of skills and understandings that any diploma, degree and master students should gain as a result of the learning and experiences they engage with while at university. These attributes are the added value which graduates can enjoy and share with employers and the wider community. They can adapt the graduate attributes for life long personal development, learning and to be successful in society.

Perhaps more correctly, what graduates could potentially be capable of anything and if successful in their studies and taking all the opportunities available to them whilst they complete their course programme. Moreover, these skills can make all graduates can become more successful in future life and in university. There are so many attributes that could make a people to have a brighter life and having attributes required makes the person extraordinary than others who don't have the attributes.

Adaptability

Adaptability is the quality of being able to adapt or adjust in new conditions. It is like an individual capability to modify their own self according to the new requirements or environments. As current life is mostly like to changing everything, today's life and work lifestyle require others than thinking skills and knowledge especially with the advance in technologies we have always to keep learning new things. For my part, I can apply adaptation in my situation as known myself taking Software Engineering. I have discovered out that mostly in every section of my class there may be only 4- 5 girls only, so whenever we have to do groupwork there will be only one flower in the group especially myself. It has to make me to be more socialize with my groups where all of them are boys. However, I managed to get through the assignment works, thinking skills, changing opinion with them with the current environment where all is online, so we have to voice call and video call to discuss. This skill makes me become more matured and able me to get through anything I face.

Enterprising Skills

Entrepreneur descriptions is used to describe the people who take on risk between buyers and sellers as taking it as starting a new venture. What difference between entrepreneur and inventor are inventor creates something new where entrepreneur puts all risk together and resources such money, people, strategy, marketing ability to transform the venture into a quality and very successful business.

Entrepreneurship is actually taking opportunities into something. For my experience, I have been an entrepreneur where I do clothing business which are pastel caftans. At first, I thought being an entrepreneur is quite challenging but after I through all ups and down in business such are losing but I managed to get up until I reach my goal and success.

Being entrepreneurship gives you forever reward like satisfaction, financial-ward independence handling business, self-esteem, and also contribution to society. This leads your life to have a success life

Leadership Skills

Leadership is a person influences a group of individual to achieve a common goal. From leadership we can know who leaders are, what leaders know, and what leaders do. A good leader is a knowledgeable, professional, communicate effectively decisiveness and always challenge people to think.

What important in leadership always make others feel safe to speak up. A good leadership styles are autocratic, charismatic, situational and transformational. Based on my situation, I have given the task to be a leader in my Graduate Success Attributes group. I distribute the task evenly to all my subgroups and instruct on how to do the assignments.

We plan together, changing opinion together and it brought us to a good way to end each of our assignment. I feel good to be good leader that I managed to handle my subgroups.

Leadership can make you become self-confidence and be extraordinary. So be one, and people will look at you up and down when you are difference from others. Employee will choose us one day when you have this attribute.

Conclusion

As a conclusion, having these kinds of attributes will make you become success in your career. Nowadays, employer will look up for the attributes as it took a lot of things when we are working. Not only thinking skills, and knowledge but we need like communication skills, leadership and teamwork skills as we are going to always work in team not individual anymore.

Be an extra, and you get to become extraordinary
