

Graduate Success Attributes

Introduction: We are studying because we wanted to make our life successful. For being successful what we need actually. At first, we need a good institution, then we need to study to and make a good result and obviously achieve skills. But whatever degree we got and whatever results from we made we need to understand first what can make me different from others and I can I be successful in this long run of my carrier. Graduate Success Attribute is a course that helped us to do so. We learned many things from here and gained good knowledge about our future carrier.

1. Leadership: We learned about leadership in this course. It was very helpful for me because before studying this topic leadership I didn't know enough about this. During this course, I learned about this and also learned about different types of leadership styles. It will help me in my future leadership carrier to pick the perfect way to lead a team or group. It will be so helpful for us I think. In a project leadership is very important a leader need to maintain his/her full team to complete the project so, It will be so helpful for me in my future carrier.

2. Thinking skills: Thinking skill is also a very important skill to gain success in life. Let's think you are a software engineer what you need to do to make software or develop software for this reason you need to think of different types of problem and also need to think how can you solve those problems. So, if you have good thinking skills those works seem very easy to you but you have not this skill you can't do well. This course helped me to gain thinking skills. Which way can I follow to gain right thinking this topic taught me that. It will be so helpful in my future carrier.

3. Teamwork: Teamwork is very much necessary for our educational life and also for our future carrier. How to deal with other team members and how to divide work within them learned from this course. A team has different types of people and we need to manage them all we need to think about the team first then me. These things are so much helpful for our life and future carrier or workplace. A good team can help a person to gain success in life.

In this present world study is not everything. Yes, you need to study we but you also need to know how can you be successful in life. Without knowing this you can't do well in the long run. I just discussed 3 things here but you need to know all about this course that you will understand how can you be successful. One also needs to develop his/her soft skills to gain success in the carrier. This course is so much helpful to achieve success and make your carrier as good as you want.
